

Martin Baumgartner works as a Researcher & Lecturer (prae doc) at the University of Vienna, Section for International Law and International Relations. He has studied law at the University of Vienna and the University of Edinburgh and is studying political science in Vienna. Furthermore, he has attended several summer schools at the University of Copenhagen's iCourts Centre, the University of Vienna and the University of Sarajevo.

During his studies, he worked as a student assistant and project research assistant for Prof. Ebrahim Afsah at the institutes for European, Comparative and International Law and for Islamic-Theological Studies and as a tutor for the Legal Literacy Project (LLP) Vienna's course at the University of Vienna. As a member of LLP, Martin Baumgartner contributes to legal education by holding seminars in schools and served as a member of the board from 2020-2022 and as president from 2021-2022. Prior to his current position he worked as a judicial clerk at Vienna's penal court.

In 2020, he participated in the Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court and coached the University of Vienna's team in 2022 and 2023, winning the European Friendly Rounds twice and reaching the Global Octofinal in both years (<https://ilmc.univie.ac.at>).

His research focus includes human rights, state responsibility, environmental law and international law of climate change.