

Curriculum Vitae

Fritz Kainz is a pre-doctoral university assistant at the Department of International Law and International Relations at the University of Vienna. He holds a Magister iuris degree and a BA in history from the University of Vienna. Additionally, he holds an LL.M. from the University of Virginia, which he attended as a Fulbright Scholar focused on comparative human rights law and international dispute resolution. Upon graduation, he worked as a judicial trainee for judge Iulia Motoc of the European Court of Human Rights. He gained additional professional experience in international law and human rights through traineeships at the UN High Commissioner for Refugees and the International Ombudsman Institute. At the domestic level, he completed traineeship with several Vienna-based law firms and clerked at civil and criminal courts at the District of the Higher Regional Court Vienna.