

Antonia Pitzl is currently working as a student assistant in the team of Professor Michael Waibel at the Department of International Law at the University of Vienna, where she is studying for a bachelor's degree in International Legal Studies.

She gained practical experience by participating in the Jessup Moot Court 2025, where her team qualified for the top 32 in the international rounds and took second place in the European friendly rounds.

In addition to her studies, she worked as a legal expert at MieterHilfe, Vienna's tenancy law assistance service. She is also a member of the NGO Grad Recht, where she offers pro bono legal support in the field of climate activism and leads a team of 35 volunteers.